

Walters Classroom Connect is a multimedia learning resource that builds visual literacy and critical thinking for K-8 students, in and out of the classroom. Comprising videos, activity sheets, and a graphic novel, Classroom Connect supports students and teachers with limited access to technology and uses the Walters Art Museum's collection of historic art to encourage students to ask questions, seek answers, and support observations about the world around them.

GRADE 1 ACTIVITY

Art & Identity

Cylinder Seal with a Combat Scene, Iran, ca. 521–330 BCE. The Walters Art Museum, Baltimore. Illustration by Sydney Lee.

Cylinder seals are tube-shaped stamps that were used for signing documents in the past (like a written signature).

Identity & Cylinder Seals

Throughout time and all over the world people have used art to express who they are. Identity is all the different things that make you, you! Your identity includes who you are to other people, what you do, your likes and your dislikes.

Cylinder seals are tube-shaped stamps that were used for signing documents in the past (like a written signature). Cylinder seals were used by people who lived a long time ago, across many ancient civilizations.

Cylinder seals had symbols on them that were like an ID. Each symbol in a cylinder seal represented something powerful and meaningful to the person who wore it. A symbol is a simple image that represents something else. For example, a paint brush symbol can represent an artist.

Above, you can see symbols on an illustration of a cylinder seal in the Walters collection. Let's explore its symbols more on the next page.

Cylinder seals were worn by their owners on strings as a necklace, or as a ring or a bracelet

Cylinder seals were used by people who lived a long time ago, across many ancient civilizations.

Activity 1: Decoding the Cylinder Seal

Look closely at the cylinder seal. Can you find the symbols below within the cylinder seal? Once you have found a symbol, color it in! Find more information about the seal on the back of page 4.

The crown is a symbol that tells us he was royalty.

The lion-griffin represents the powerful creatures that he defeated as king.

The bow & arrow and sword represent the tools that he used to fight for justice.

Activity 2: Sealing My Identity

Now that you have explored the meaning of symbols on an ancient cylinder seal, it's your turn to make your own.

1. What makes you, you?

First, think of the different identities that make up who you are. Answer the questions below to describe parts of your identity. Who are you to other people? (Teacher, sister, brother?) What activities do you like to do? (Drawing, having fun with friends?) What are the things that you treasure? (Family, collections, holidays?)

2. Choose your unique symbols.

Choose symbols that are unique to you, that represent the ideas in Step 1. Use the list below to help you brainstorm. Here are some examples of symbols that represent some people's identities. You can use these symbols or choose symbols of your own.

3. Create your own symbol seal.

Using symbols that are unique to you, combine them to draw a seal of your own!

Cylinder Seal with a Combat Scene, Iran, ca. 521-330 BCE (Achaemenid), chalcedony, acc. no. 42.775. The Walters Art Museum, Baltimore.

About the Cylinder Seal with a Combat Scene

Based on the crowned figure's dress and his triumphant pose, it can be seen that the figures wearing the crowns are royalty. This seal depicts a king fighting a lion-griffin in two scenes. First, he engages in close combat with the lion-griffin. Second, the king aims his bow at the beast. This seal is from the reign of King Darius I (ca. 521–486 BCE) or after. During his time as king, he was involved in a great deal of change in his kingdom.

© The Trustees of the Walters Art Museum, all rights reserved.

Illustrations by Sydney Lee and Jia Liu, no rights reserved. Written by Iman Cuffie.

This resource was made possible by the generosity of the following funders

Herman C. Bainder, The Ruth Carol Fund, City of Baltimore, Citizens of Baltimore County, The Delaplaine Foundation, The Harry L. Gladding Foundation / Mr. and Mrs. Neal D. Borden, The Goldsmith Family Foundation, Howard County Government and the Howard County Arts Council, Louis B. II and Josephine Kohn Family Foundation , L'Aiglon Foundation, John J. Leidy Foundation, Maryland State Arts Council, Maryland State Department of Education, Joseph and Harvey Meyerhoff Family Charitable Funds, Robert E. Meyerhoff and Rheda Becker, National Endowment for the Humanities, PNC Foundation, Dr. John J. and Jean Peters Pilch Memorial Fund, The Ruth T. Rauch Early Childhood Program Fund, The Rauch Foundation, Nora Roberts Foundation, The Ludwig and Nancy Sternberger Charitable Foundation, Toyota Financial Services, Truist Foundation, The Women's Committee of the Walters Art Museum, and the Gladys Winter Fund for Teacher Programs.

